INVITATION TO SUPPORT AEPC 2027

Dear Colleagues,

After the very successful AEPC Annual Meeting in Padua, we are now heading towards the 60th Annual AEPC Meeting, which will take place in Prague on May 19–22, 2027. This will be a wonderful occasion to celebrate AEPC, the world's largest learned society in the field of paediatric and congenital cardiovascular medicine, to exchange knowledge, and to meet friends and colleagues.

The meeting will be held at the Prague Congress Centre, a centrally located venue that is well connected to the city by public transport. The scientific programme will cover all aspects of our specialty and provide a wide range of opportunities to present original scientific work, with a strong focus on interactivity and the inclusion of young scientists. As the largest annual meeting in the field worldwide, the meeting is expected to bring together faculty and participants from all continents.

A children's art exhibition, European Hearts in the Heart of Europe, will accompany the meeting. A networking dinner will be held during the meeting, and an optional early-morning run will be organised for those who wish to take part.

We look forward to welcoming you to Prague for the next AEPC Annual Meeting.

Jan Janoušek
Local Chair

AEPC, LOCAL ORGANISERS & COMMITTEES

ASSOCIATION FOR EUROPEAN PAEDIATRIC AND CONGENITAL CARDIOLOGY (AEPC)

The AEPC was founded in Lyon in 1963 as Association Européenne pour la Cardiologie Pédiatrique. Since then, AEPC has become a network of specialists who are committed to the practice and advancement of Congenital Cardiology and closely related fields. Cardiology in the Young (CitY) is the official journal of the AEPC. AEPC offers a free subscription of 'Cardiology in the Young' (CitY) as part of the annual membership fee. The membership also offers several other benefits.

The overall membership of the Association now stands over 1500 paediatric cardiologists and other specialists working in the field of paediatric cardiology and its related disciplines including a large junior member community (30 %). The AEPC Members originate not only from Europe but also from 35 non-European countries. The number of members increases by 10–11% a year. As far as we are aware, this makes the Association the largest democratically administered global association in the field of congenital cardiology, and what is equally encouraging is that we now represent members from all the continents. New members are very welcome as they will always bring with them new ideas and innovations.

AEPC and its Working Groups aim to enhance collaboration amongst members for scientific research and professional development and to maintain high standards of professional practice. The European countries are represented within the Association by an elected National Delegate. The Association co-operates with numerous associations/societies working in the field of congenital heart defects originating from other continents. AEPC also works closely together with ESC and its organisations.

SCIENTIFIC CONTENT

MAIN THEME OF AEPC 2027

“Together we like to help to improve long-term outcome in children with heart disease”

MAIN TOPICS

The main — though not exclusive — topics selected for the Prague meeting are:

- Long-term results of interventional treatment of congenital heart disease
- Cardiovascular imaging
- Heart failure, circulatory support and heart transplantation
- Artificial intelligence
- Quality control
- Paediatric cardiac surgery visualized for the cardiologist

CARDIOLOGY & PAEDIATRIC CARDIOLOGY IN CZECH REPUBLIC AND PRAGUE

Czech Republic has a comprehensive country-wide system of paediatric/congenital cardiac care consisting of one tertiary paediatric heart centre (Children’s Heart Centre, Second Faculty of Medicine, Charles University in Prague and Motol University Hospital, Prague, Czech Republic) and a network of collaborating paediatric departments and paediatric cardiologists accross the country.

All range of paediatric cardiac diagnostics and treatment is provided by the system including a country-wide paediatric heart transplant and mechanical circulatory support program. Surgical outcome data are reported to the ECHSA congenital database to provide quality control and comparison with othe international centres.

A developed fetal cardiac screening program enables the detection of about 85 % of all critical heart disease prenatally. Grown-up patients are transitioned for further care into two tertiary heart centres specialized in treatment of adult congenital heart disease.
